Dr arif butt teaches machine learning, natural language processing, web scraping for data scientists, data visualization with matplotlib and seaborn, pandas for data scientists, numpy for data scientists, basic python programming, descriptive and inferential statistics for data scientists, linear algebra for data scientists, tools and techniques for data scientists, computer organization and assembly language, system programming with linux, inter-networking with arif butt, c-refresher with arif butt, operating system with linux